Shaler's Homecoming Has New Dimension: Street Parade

The float parade down Mt. Royal Boulevard was a welcome new addition to homecoming.

Lyn and her court received long-stemmed roses.

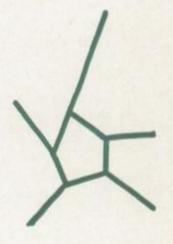

Lyn Busman, Shaler's 1968 Homecoming Queen, captured honors for the choir's presentation of Hansel and Gretel.

Shaler's traditional homecoming had new flavor this year. With the construction of a new athletic field, Shaler had to originate a new method for displaying homecoming floats. Under the supervision of Student Council, the Shaler High School Band began the homecoming float parade down Mt. Royal Boulevard. Last year's queen, Jane Symanski, was present to precede the floats.

With this year's theme being Fairy Tales, the classes and clubs displayed their creativity. The winning float "Hansel and Gretel" created by the Choirs was led by Queen Lyn Busman and her attendants Mary Cloonan and Deborah Grant. The other winning floats were Art Club's "Little Black Sambo," Folk Singing Club's "Alice in Wonderland," and the Senior Class float "Pinocchio."

In the afternoon, Shaler's football team and members of the student body traveled to Fox Chapel. Exhausted from last minute float preparations, students nonetheless cheered for the Huskie team. Although the Fox Chapel Foxes were victorious, Shaler's homecoming spirit was not dampened.

"Hansel and Gretel," designed by the choirs, placed as the homecoming winner. That evening couples danced to the strain of favorite songs and listened to Shaler's Dance Band jazz up both old and current numbers. Then what everyone had been awaiting — the announcement of the winning float. The choir float placed first, and Lyn Busman was crowned Homecoming Queen.

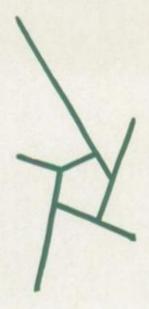

Ruth Wilkins and furry friend attracted crowds of tots and toddlers.

Sunshine and Lolipops Brought The Choirs A Victory

"You don't scare me paper tiger!"

More spectators had an opportunity to enjoy Shaler's band and majorettes in action.

Everyone congratulated Lyn, who had just been crowned.

"I now pronounce you man and wife."

As "Our Town" opens, the stage manager outlines the history of Grovers Corners, N. H., and carries the audience into the houses of the Gibbs and Webb families, substantial homes containing substantial people. After portraying a typical day in our town, the play continues on to the love affair of Emily and George. Soon after their marriage, Emily dies and the audience is led to the cemetery where Emily, from the vantage point of the dead, realizes the importance of appreciating life and living it to the fullest.

"The clerk will now draw a jury." It began simply enough. Twelve members of the audience filed on stage to act as the jury for the trial to find Bjorn Faulkner's murderer.

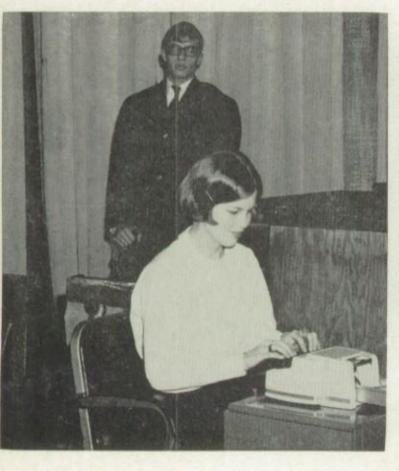

Witnesses presented their testimonies — Magda, a Swedish spinster housekeeper, Homer, an aloof private investigator, John Whitfield, a proud wealthy banker, and Roberta, a strip tease artist, among others. The hearing concluded and the jury filed off stage to decide the verdict. Despite the fact that the cast had been through the play about thirty times, the jury at each performance brought in a different verdict, proving the skills of both attorneys.

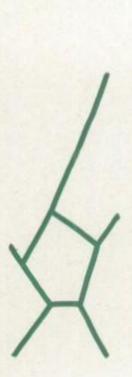

And then it was all over, leaving Mrs. Dougherty hoarse but proud, and the cast, many hours sleepier and awfully tired of pretzels.

Pep Rallies Spark Enthusiasm and Spirit In Students

Varsity and J.V. teams await recognition at the basketball pep rally.

Happiness is going to the Pep Rally!

What's up, Bob?

Each year, the cheerleaders, band, majorettes, and athletes create enthusiasm at Shaler with a series of pep rallies. The rallies begin with several fight songs and cheers, as the students pile into the bleachers. Then the majorettes perform to a show tune played by the band, while the cheerleaders get ready to present their skit, which usually portrays the Huskies delivering their rivals a crushing blow. After several more cheers, the rally is ended by singing the Alma Mater, and the students leave the gym, ready to cheer the Huskies on to victory that night.

Everyone enjoys a pep assembly.

Cheerleaders try to promote school spirit.

Pat Winkler Crowned 1968 Junior-Senior Prom Queen

This year the Junior-Senior Prom was held at the Hotel Webster Hall on January 25. Music was provided by the Ray Defay Orchestra. Each girl received a small basket with a single rose in it. Tables were reserved with place cards marking each individual's seat, while over one hundred couples spent the evening under "Moonlight and Roses."

The Prom Court looks on excitedly as the Queen is crowned.

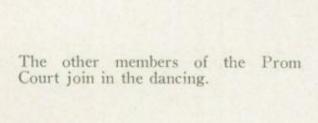

Pat Winkler beams happily as she dances with escort, Carl Parise.

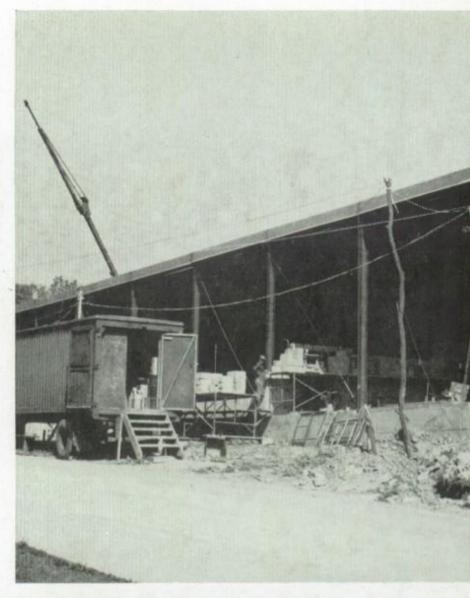

How does it feel to be the Junior-Senior Prom Queen? Just ask Pat Winkler.

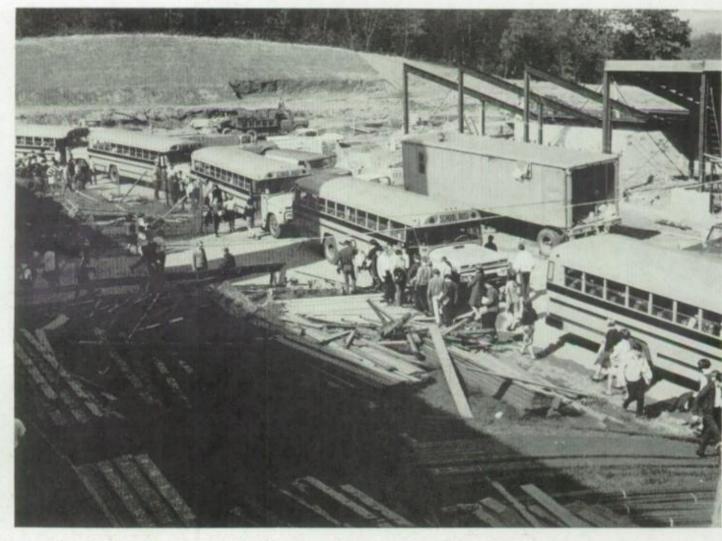

Shaler's new athletic field, costing about $475,000 will have a seating capacity of 3500 with facilities for baseball, football, and track with vaulting, jumping, and shotput pits. A larger announcing booth, more and better lighting, a sod field with a sprinkler system, and telephones to each team's bench will contribute to one of the best equipped high school stadiums.

This will be finished for June 5?

Construction is a slow process.

During the early part of 1967, the Shaler Township Board of Education requested that the school district classification be changed from third to second. In order to be eligible for this change, it is necessary that the Township population exceeds thirty thousand. From the latest special Township census, it is readily apparent that the Township has definitely surpassed this thirty thousand mark.

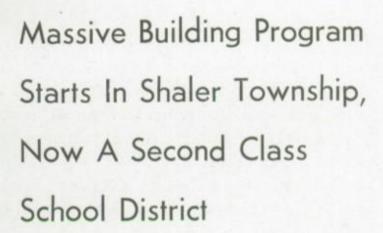

To accommodate the requirements of second-class school districts, two new school board members were added to form a nine-man school board. In addition to an enlarged school board, an action was taken to appoint supervisors for subject areas within the school curriculum. These individuals will play an active part in observing teaching methods in their field and in working with teachers to improve instruction.

Shaler's educational program is being highlighted by a greatly-expanded construction program. Work has begun at Marzolf, Birchfield, and Jeffery elementary schools for additional classroom facilities. During December five portable classrooms arrived for placement at the Junior High School and the Birchfield Elementary School. The Senior High School athletic field will be completed for the 1968 football season. This sports stadium will include playing fields for all outdoor sports, including a quartermile track. Further expansion is anticipated for the coming year. Upon approval from the Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg, Shaler will initiate a new plan of organization. This means that elementary education will have five grades; a Middle School will house grades six, seven, and eight; the Intermediate High School will have grades nine and ten with the Senior High School containing grades eleven and twelve. The total cost of the proposed construction is estimated at $10,000,000.00. With these additional classroom facilities Shaler's educational system will progress in both quality and quantity.

Dr. Harold Hench returned to his job of Superintendent of Shaler Township Schools after his 1967 sabbatical at Ohio University.

Elementary education in the township is directed by Dr. Vaughan Campbell, Assistant Superintendent.

Mr. Samuel Boyer, also Assistant Superintendent, is in charge of Shaler's secondary education.

Shaler High School Life Is Altered By Construction And

The high school this year was the scene of important changes and firsts. The football season was climaxed by an unprecedented homecoming parade. Although the parade was to be merely a 1967 substitution for the traditional homecoming which could not be held because of the field's reconstruction, the change was so successful that it is expected to become an annual Shaler event.

The most important "first" to the '68 seniors, however, was graduation. They were not only the first class to graduate in the newly constructed stadium, but their graduation was the first activity held in the stadium.

On a smaller scale, but just as important a part of Shaler's new activities this year were the additions of the Night Talent Show and the February Sweetheart Ball. Two new organizations, the Foreign Exchange Committee and the Ski Club, involved over 300 students and made important contributions to SHS. The success of these '67 additions was overwhelming; their effect will be lasting.

As principal, Mr. Shepley capably supervises the affairs of Shaler High School.

Mr. Shepley shows Tom Mizgorski the trophy brought home by Shaler's wrestling team.

Mary Jo Spagnoletti prepares to type letters of congratulation to those whom Mr. Shepley has listed as receiving honors.

School Activities Planned Around Field Reconstruction

This year, the construction on the athletic field had an enormous effect on school activities. Besides the great change in the traditional homecoming, the construction forced all gym classes to remain inside, the football team to work-out at the Thompson farm, and the track team to practice at Kiwanis Park, Mount Royal Boulevard, the halls of the high school, or any place else that was available. However, the class of sixty-eight was "repaid" for the sacrifice; they were the first to graduate in the new stadium.

The next major change in Shaler, not to be felt for approximately three years, is the proposed middle school. This will divide grades six through twelve into three schools to help alleviate overcrowding. Sixth, seventh, and eighth grades will be in the junior high building, ninth and tenth in the proposed middle school, and eleventh and twelfth grades in the high school building. The magnitude of such a change is impossible to determine, but it will be a deviation from high school as we know it.

Linda Murray, Linda Tylenda, Marilyn Klein, and Mary Jo Spagnoletti made up Shaler's 1968 secretarial staff.

Joseph Sanderson, as viceprincipal, handled a great many responsibilities required of the administration.

Richard Dixon, activities director and acting viceprincipal during the second semester, talks with Mr. Shepley about the new duties he undertook during Mr. Sanderson's absence.

Mr. Frank Ribich Guidance Counselor, Spanish I. Sponsor of Varsity Baseball.

The services provided by Shaler's guidance department benefited this year's student body in many different areas. Their task began with the scheduling of all classes for the 1967-68 school year. When the students arrived, the counselors were then available to advise individuals in their choice of colleges, in their selection of future courses, and in their applications for scholarships and loans. Mr. Auld specialized in the handling of the scholarship program and worked with Mr. Ribich to arrange for the administering of tests. The variety of tests which they were able to offer to Shaler's students this year included college boards, National Merit, aptitude, Air Force, and Pennsylvania State Employment Tests. Those interested in gaining employment came under the direction of Mrs. Lukehart who worked in cooperation with the community to secure jobs for them in the local area. All Shaler's counselors, while giving advice in these various matters, took an interest in the students' school programs and their plans for future achievement.

Juniors Get New Lit Anthology

Curriculum in the English department this year included academic, commercial, and general English, and stressed literature and the fundamentals of English grammar. Advanced literature, speech, and composition offered additional experience in a specific field for those who wished a second English course. For the first time in Shaler's history, speech and composition courses were offered in both semesters. This was due to the large number of students enrolled in those classes. For the eleventh grade, a new anthology was introduced to one section as an experiment. Next year, one section of the twelfth grade will have the new anthology. More literature was also introduced into twelfth grade Commercial English. Mrs. Von Blerkon, a Penn State senior, did her student teaching this year in the English department for Mrs. Corda.

Mr. Albert Heinricher World Cultures.

Social Studies is a science that explores man and his environment. his year Shaler's courses were organized into a comprehensive program. uch subjects as world cultures, American history, political science, ecoomics, and psychology were offered. Class discussions ranged from ctures on the national purpose to debates on the war efforts in Vietnam. Thile psychology students were studying human behavior, economic stuents were studying the gross national product. Throughout the year the udy of current events predominated in all social studies classes. From the ourses offered in this department, the individual was able to study in epth the economic, political, and social problems of the world.

The theme of Shaler's language program this year was enthusiasm. Each teacher employed various techniques to stimulate student interest in the foreign languages.

Mr. Baker's Latin classes continued to study Roman History in order to give some background for a better understanding of the times in which Julius Ceasar lived.

In the German classes, Mrs. Skendall encouraged the students to attend outside activities such as movies and concerts for the purpose of broadening their background in German. The first German student teacher, Mr. Penzenstadler, was helpful in this.

The French classes placed emphasis on the culture of France. While Mrs. Mercer's classes gave oral reports on French life, Miss Broge's classes made projects of maps and models.

Enthusiasm in the Spanish classes was displayed in the studying of current events. Miss Laurette Riggio, a student teacher under Miss Smolkovich, discussed Spanish literature with her students. In essence, the key to the study of foreign language is enthusiasm.

New Equipment Benefits Students

Shaler High School has a very diversified Commercial Department that tries to prepare the students in the commercial field for a basic office job after graduation. Eighteen new Remington typewriters plus other up-to-date equipment keep the commercial trainees at the level of business achievement. The commercial field consists of bookkeeping, secretarial, and clerical courses. Any student wishing to enter the "Business World" after graduation should take advantage of the courses offered.

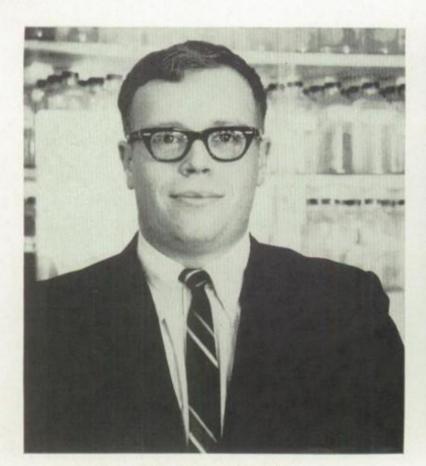

Mrs. Janet Heberle Business Exploratory, Typing II, Cosponsor of Senior Commercial Club.

Miss Joyce Herwood Consumer Education, Business Exploratory, Bookkeeping I.

The curriculum in Shaler's science department, headed by David L. Speer, ranged from the basic principles of plant and animal life to the physical aspects of our environment. Sophomores enrolled in the biology course undertook the study of life, centering around plants and animals. The Advanced Biology course covered the plant and animal kingdoms in detail with much emphasis on human life. Chemistry students learned the importance of scientific investigation and experimentation. In physics classes the students made a conclusive study of the universe, electricity, the atomic structure, mechanics, optics, and waves. The basic principles of chemistry and physics were included in the senior physical science course.

Taking over the title of the Head of the Math Department, after the retirement of Mr. Ford, is Mr. Speer, who is now head of both the Science and Math Departments. Shaler gives the students a good background in math, and in extending its program, the Math Department now offers the modern approach to math in all classes.

Mr. Yankovic had a student teacher again this year. Mr. Wolfe, from the Pennsylvania State University, taught Mr. Yankovic's classes for nine weeks.

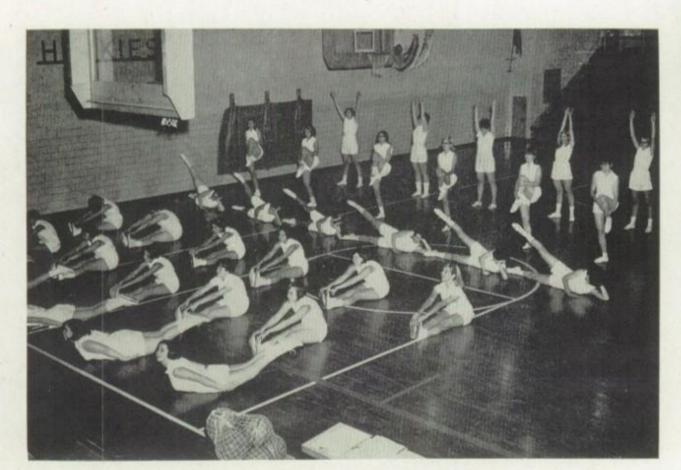

This year the Math Department added two new teachers to its team, Mr. Heibert and Mr. Ferguson. Mr. Heibert has taken on Algebra II and Shop Math; the college prep sophomore geometry classes are now taught by Mr. Ferguson.

Mr. Lawrence Dodds Algebra I, II.

Mrs. Frances Barr and Mrs. Beverly Slais did their best to keep the girls physically fit. Physical fitness exams were given twice a year to check the improvement of the girls. Under the direction of Mr. Clarence Martin and Mr. Barry Brautigam, the boys developed their physiques. The girls and boys of Shaler took part in such sports as basketball, volleyball, softball and gymnastics. Mr. Brautigam and Mrs. Barr instructed the seniors in the fundamentals of health. The body systems, the heart and the organs were only a few of the chapters covered in the classes this year. Toward the close of the year, an extensive course on Civil Defense Survival was covered. This course imparts some knowledge that may be beneficial to the student at a future time in life.

Like every other Shaler activity this year (and possibly to a greater extent) the physical education department was greatly affected by the field construction. Instead of the usual outdoor spring gym classes of softball and track, both boys and girls remained inside for a few extra days of volley-ball or bowling. And for seniors, as has always been the custom, the last gym classes were devoted to commencement practice.

Preparation was the key to success in Shaler's music department this year. Class time was devoted to perfecting musical selections for concerts. The music department was divided into two major sections, the band directed by Mr. Mroz made up the instrumental portion, and the choirs directed by Mrs. Maxwell made up the vocal portion. The Choral Department consisted of three choirs: Sophomore Choir, Treble Choir, and Chapel Choir. Two weeks prior to the opening of school, the band became acquainted with the football marches. Meeting one class period a day, both organizations practiced various selections while trying to master musical techniques. The many hours of practice proved to be beneficial in the presentation of concerts.

In addition to directing the choirs Mrs. Maxwell also taught a music appreciation class. Boys, as well as girls, took advantage of this opportunity to better their understanding of music. Meeting one period a week the purpose of this class was to better acquaint the student with the field of music. Listening to classical music and jazz was part of the course. By offering these varied courses, Shaler enabled its students to participate in many phases of music.

Mrs. Maxwell teaches students how to project their voices more effectively.

This year Shaler High School's home making classes studied units in clothing construction and wardrobe planning, in food preparation service, nutrition, and also interior decorating. In addition, the Home Making I class studied home nursing while the Home Making II class experimented with foreign cooking.

First semester three classes each day prepared and served many tempting meals. Second semester three classes constructed many beautiful as well as budget-saving clothes. In early February the Simplicity Pattern Company had presented a spring fashion show for all girls in the high school.

In Advanced Sewing class the girls spent all year not only sewing clothes for themselves, but remodeling clothes, sewing for other members of their families and for their hope chests. They also planned and made arrangements for the annual fashion show for the public, which is part of the schools annual Fine and Practical Arts Show each spring.

In addition to wood shop, boys were able to take mechanical drawing to improve their drafting skills or metal shop to learn to use the machines in the shop. All of the boys were allowed to build projects of their own choice, including skis, toboggans, gun cabinets, and tables. Second and third year courses were provided in the three areas for boys who wished to continue their study of industrial arts. In May, the annual Fine and Practical Arts Show was held to provide the students with a chance to exhibit any items which they constructed throughout the year.

In the winter a safety quiz was given to see how the students would react it a given situation. Night-driving tips were also distributed to the homerooms. Due to the changing time and the increase of motor vehicles on the road, it an advantage to the driver to understand the base fundamentals of operating a car.

Boys adjust earphones to receive better reception.

The Audio-Visual Department is under the direction of Mr. William Baker. The boys who helped with the visual-aids make sure that the classrooms are equipped with the necessary machines whenever they are needed. Many teachers found the audio-visual equipment, such as record players, tape recorders, screens, and overhead, movie, and filmstrip projectors, helpful in teaching their lessons.

Library audio aids, which include French, German, Latin, and Spanish tapes and records, were also of considerable value to the language students of the school. Films were available to the student wishing to use them in discussing his subjects.

Emily shows Mrs. Baker how to adjust a record.

Homer Wallace, M.D. School Doctor

Mrs. Rittman, Shaler's school nurse, has been quite busy again this year. She, along with the aides from Future Nurses' Club, tend to sick students and administer first aid. Some of Mrs. Rittman's annual jobs are assisting Doctor Homer Wallace in the physicals for juniors and recording weights, heights, and results from eye tests for all students. She also kept records concerning insurance on minor accidents and all emotional and physical disabilities of students in Shaler.

In order to keep in touch with the medical world during the summer months, Mrs. Rittman works in the emergency room of North Hills Passavant Hospital.

Marcia Stout waits patiently as Doctor Wallace finishes her physical.

Education Act Grants Provide Books For Shaler Library

This year, for the first time, the library reached its capacity for books, magazines, and other research materials. Many new books and audio-visual materials were added through grants from the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, keeping librarians and library aides busy throughout the year. The amount of the grant is decided by the number of students in the school district and the amount of money the district spends on its libraries. All of the grants are given with the understanding that the school district will continue to supply the same amount of money to the library as it did in the past. As the total number of books reached 11,000 this year and new shelves were added in the main room and in the magazine room, it became evident that a new library would be necessary in the near future.

Mrs. Dorothy W. Baker Librarian.

Library Aides Emily Oginski, Bernice Berdik, Diane Davies, Diane Hollingsworth, and Jean Wokutch can often be seen checking books in and out of the library.

Students make good use of Shaler's library, especially as term paper deadlines approach.

Mr. Anthony Wahl, the daytime custodian, works at one of his many jobs.

Shaler is fortunate to have so many capable people engaged in the school services. Heading the cafeteria staff is Mrs. Speicher, the school dietician. Her job includes seeing that meals are well organized and properly served. Helping the cafeteria ladies with some of their more difficult tasks is Mr. Wahl, one of our many custodians. His job is an endless one; it consists of not only maintenance and upkeep, but also occasional unjamming of student's lockers. Providing the woman's touch to the cleanliness and neatness of the school is Mrs. Wiest. Another important service is rendered by the bus drivers. Without their faithful assistance many students would have to find their own transportation to and from school.

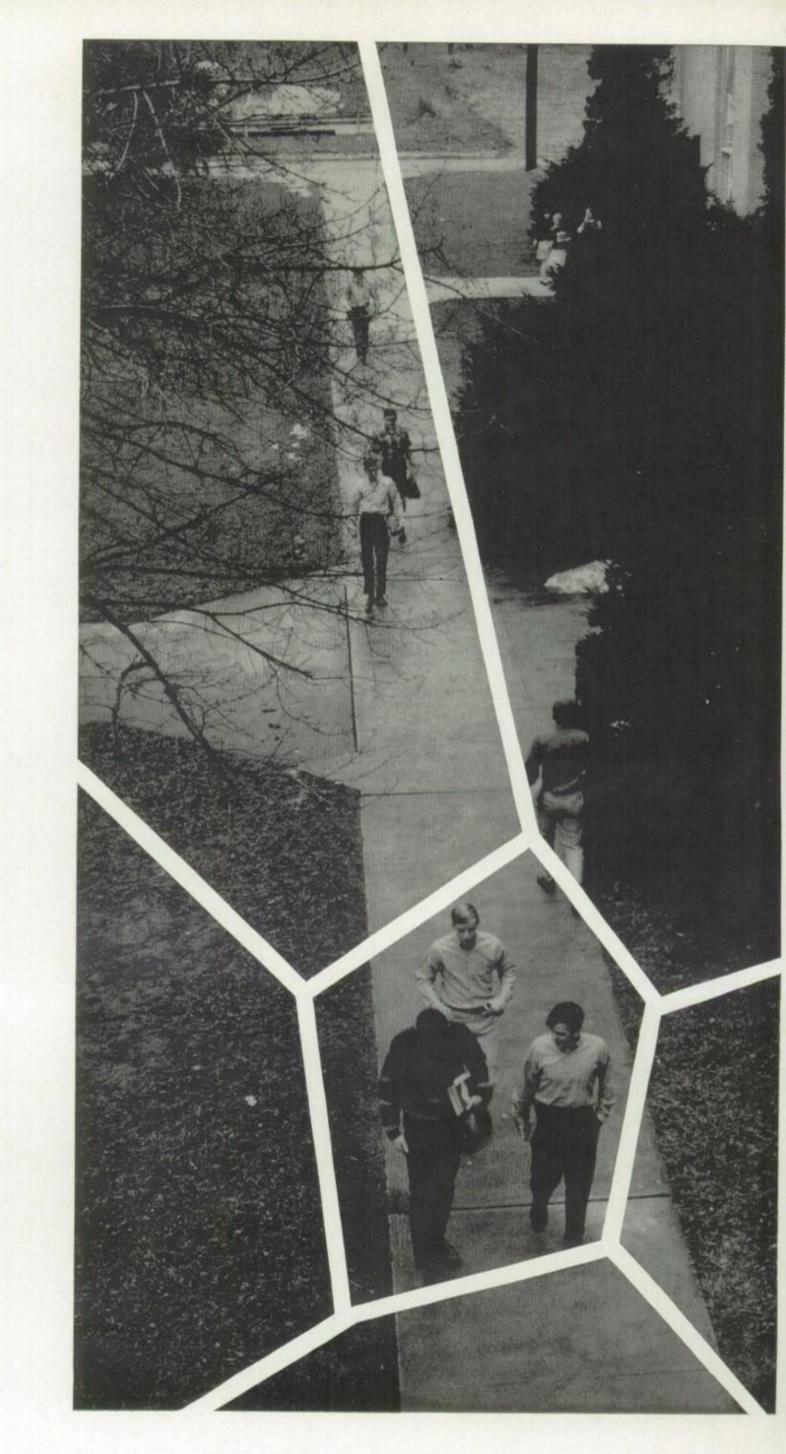

Shaler students are aware of the services which are provided for them and would like to thank all those who helped the school to function smoothly.

Mrs. Sara Speicher, Dietician of the Shaler Township Schools.

With her dust cloth in her hand, Mrs. Wiest goes about her daily chores.

The Seniors of 1968 will always remember their high school years at Shaler because of the many activities in which they participated. As Sophomores the class raised the money to start their treasury through a magazine drive; five hundred dollars was raised. In the 1965 homecoming parade, the Sophomore entry represented Ground Hog Day - the ground hog saw his shadow and six long weeks of winter would soon follow. The queen of the float was Patricia Malley and her attendants were Colleen Miller and Michele Gross. The following year the class float was titled "The Gay Nineties." Stephanie Eichleay was the queen, attended by Patricia Malley and Mary Ann Willman. The Junior-Senior Prom was held at the Hilton Hotel on November 23, 1966; Jane Roch was crowned queen. The theme of the prom was "Evening in Paris." That year, the Juniors performed "Our Town" as the class play. The class of '68 presented "The Night of January 16th" for its play in December, 1967. The Senior float, "Pinocchio," was displayed in the homecoming parade on Mount Royal Boulevard. The queen of this float was Jane Roch, who was attended by Marcy Devine and Patricia Malley. Senior Day was observed on the day of the last football game, in which the Huskies played Bethel. At the pep rally that afternoon, Patricia Malley and Frank Doven were crowned King and Queen of Football for the year. In February, a Sweetheart Dance was held in which a senior sweetheart was chosen. The Senior Prom was held at the Churchill Country Club on May 31. Graduation Day, June 5, 1968, marked the first time that the new stadium was used for the commencement exercises. These are just a few among the many experiences that the Shaler Seniors of 1968 will always remember.

The class of '69 spent an active Junior year. They were led in planning activities by class officers Carl Parise, President; Tom Seaton, Vice-President; Nancy Templer, Secretary; and Doug Frank, Treasurer.

The Juniors began the school year with "Dumbo," their entry in Shaler's annual Homecoming parade. Junior queen Kathy Toomey, with her attendants Lynn Spreng and Mary Jane Yaksic, rode proudly ahead of their float.

At the height of the Junior year was the Junior-Senior Prom. Although Juniors faced a disappointment when it became necessary to cancel the prom from its original date in November, the rescheduled prom was a success. It was held in Webster Hall on January 25, with a theme of "Moonlight and Roses."

In March the class of '69, under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Dougherty, presented their Junior Class Play, Rally Round the Flag, Boys.

Juniors hope to continue their success at Shaler when they become Seniors in '69.

With a bewildered look in their eyes so typical of new sophomores, the members of the class of '70 made their way through the first few hectic weeks of school. After becoming accustomed to high school life, they elected the following people as class officers: Scott Griffith, President; Tom Mayton, Vice President; Kathy Feather, Secretary; and Tim Thomas, Treasurer. Under the leadership of these officers and Mr. Condeluci, the class sponsor, the class forged ahead with all the activities of its busy first year at Shaler High School. The first big event was Homecoming. The class chose Winnie-the-Pooh as its float and voted Jackie Liberto to be queen with Connie Copetas and Karen Perry as attendants. The next project of the sophomore class was its annual magazine drive. The goal of the drive was $5,000 but it was exceeded by $537.50. A total of $5,537.50 was reached. While the remainder of the year offered no major project for the class of '70 as a whole, individuals of the class still contributed to the school in various ways through the sports program and in numerous clubs and organizations. All in all, the sophomores made the 1967-1968 school year worth-while and one to be remembered.

Secretary Kathy Feather, President Scott Griffith, Vice-President Tom Mayton, and Treasurer Tim Thomas led the Class of '70 through its sophomore year.

A long pass sailed through the air. The pass receiver ran back and back and . . . oops! He dropped out of sight behind a hill and the pass flew over his head. A scene from a back-yard football game? No, it was a typical day at the Huskies' summer football camp. Because of the construction of the new stadium, the team had to practice on a farm field. Besides the hills, the field offered several other unique features, including the stonch of dead worms and a narrower-than-usual playing field. On top of this, all of the games were to be played away from home except for one "home game" on the Etna Field. But the Huskies refused to let these obstacles discourage tham as they determinedly faced their first game.

At the North Allegheny game, co-captains of the week for accident prone Shaler were Walt Wolff and Ron Wilson.

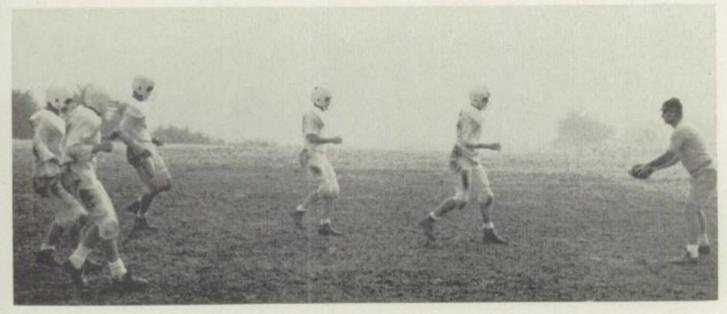

The first game at Beaver, which the Huskies lost 21-6, served to point out weak spots to the team. It was a new experience to be playing on a regulation-size football field. At the New Kensington-Arnold game, the team showed improvement, but still was defeated. After the loss of the Churchill game, school spirit began to lag, but the team's spirit never wavered. The next Saturday, the Huskies came through and defeated the North Allegheny team, 18-13, at the Tiger's Homecoming. The Huskies lost the Westinghouse Memorial game, but the next week held their traditional rival, North Hills, to a scoreless tie. Shaler's Homecoming game was played at Fox Chapel, and despite a halftime lead, the Huskies lost the game 23-12. The Gateway game proved to be another loss. On November 3, Senior Day, the Huskies traveled to Bethel to play the last game of the season, but all efforts failed, and Shaler was defeated 26-12. However, the Huskies were able to show continual improvement throughout the season, despite the loss of several important players. Although it is the win-loss record that carries the most weight, team spirit and sportsmanship are also very important. In the awards assembly, Coach Dixon described the season by saying that the boys never gave up and played every game to win.

Shaler Holds North Hills Indians To A Scoreless Tie

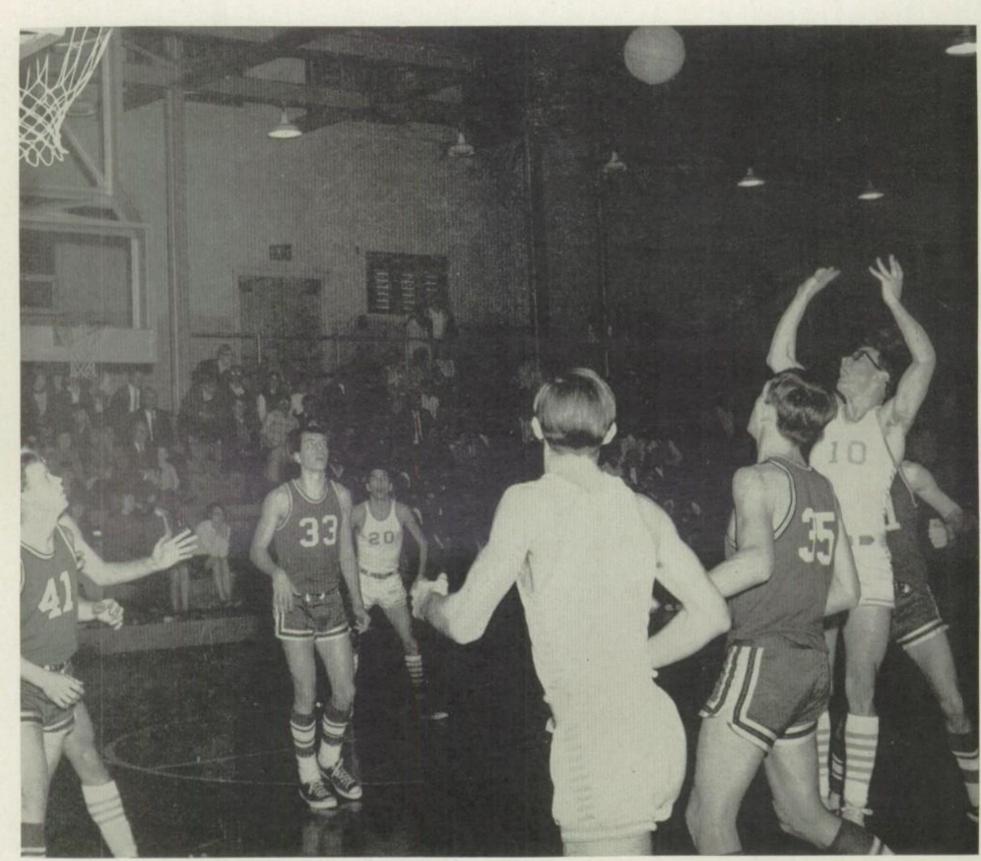

Frank Doven eludes his opponents for a touchdown.

With 231 Doug Frank Is Shaler's 1967-68 High Scorer

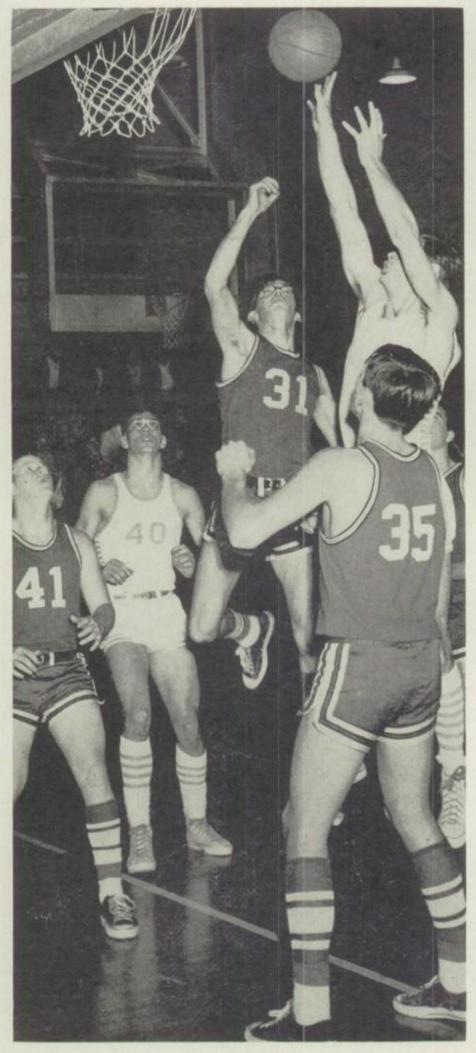

This year's Varsity basketball team relied on teamwork, not on individuals. With no lettermen returning on the squad, and with a few of the varsity members out with injuries, the boys had to work hard. The Shaler Huskies were led by veteran coach Mr. Ben Martin, who was assisted by Mr. Barry Brautigam. Doug Frank was Shaler's high scorer with a total of 231 points. Wayne Skelley had the highest average of any Shaler basketball player with 12.2 points per game. Scott Irwin was Shaler's second highest scorer with a total of 185 points. Since the Huskies' tallest man was only six foot two, height was a problem; both North Allegheny and Sto-Rox had at least one player over six foot five. Even though the Huskies lacked height, they put up a good fight. They played the type of ball that a small team must play. They hustled and showed a strong defense. The Junior Varsity basketball team consisted of fourteen sophomores and two juniors, and were under the coaching of Mr. Barry Brautigam. With the experience these boys have, our varsity team should have a fine season next year.

Wayne Skelley looks on as Scott Irwin attempts to make a basket.

"Hands off! It's my ball."

Wayne Skelley adds two more points to the Huskie score.

What goes up must come down.

The Huskies' varsity team consisted of nine lettermen. The senior lettermen were Wayne Skelley, Walter Wolff, and Wayne Frazier. The junior lettermen were Jay Jerabek, Doug Frank, Scott Irwin, and Mike Kaercher. There were also two sophomore lettermen: Tom Mayton and Jack Wolff. Although the season did not turn out as well as expected, the majority of our boys showed their skill, not in winning, but in the way they played the game. Through all the disappointments of the season, our boys and the whole school never lost their school spirit. This attitude was shown in their faithful attendance which never slacked. There were times when spirit began to diminish, but they never gave up hope. Wherever they went, the Shaler Huskies carried the school name proudly.

Varsity Finishes Season With 9-3-1 Record, J.V. 9-4

At the sports awards assembly, coach Robert Siar said, "The wrestling team had a very successful season." He attributed their success to five factors: the administration, the activities director, the faculty, the student body, and the team, who all cooperated fully with the wrestling program. Although Mr. Siar said that he was the least important factor, the team feels that his guidance contributed measurably.

With the exception of a three point loss to Trinity, the wrestlers stormed through the first six matches. At the Carnegie match, the Huskies suffered an unexpected defeat, but came back in the next two matches to smash North Hills 48-11, and Hampton 38-11. The next match with Richland was probably the most exciting match of the season as both teams went into the contest with 7-2 records. Throughout the match, the score see-sawed back and forth until Richland led by six points before the last match. Shaler needed to get a first period pin, and Rick Brown did just that, making the final score 21-21.

Because of the tie, many people eyed the Invitational Tournament as a rematch between Shaler and Richland, but Shaler captured the championship with 125 points. A few weeks later, Shaler chalked up another victory by winning the WPIAL Section 8 Championship. This year, the wrestlers had eight finalists and four section champions: Rick LaFerriere, Tom Seaton, Tom Greenen, and Rick Brown. And to add a happy ending, Rick Brown walked off with the heavyweight crown in the WPIAL Championships.

Track Team Places Third In West Penn Conference

The tri-captains of the 1967-1968 track team were: Ron Wilson, weights; Randy Smucker, sprints; and Rick Brunk, distance. Running were Burton and Long in the mile; Brunk, Reifle, and Rohn in the two-mile; Smucker, Brazet, Bishop, and Uphoff in the eighth-mile, quarter-mile, and half-mile. Sprinters were Griffith, Frank, and Jerebek; high jump, Streiffer. Running the hurdles were Tedford, Rickley, Illig, Doven, and Houchard; pole vaulting, Morris. Brown, Wilson, Shuff, and Powell participated in the throwing events, which include the shot-put, javelin, and discus.

The total number of points in a meet is 145, so 73 points are needed to win. First place is 5 points, second place, 3 points, and third place, 1 point. The amount of points each player earns in a meet is counted towards his varsity letter. Four men in a winning relay team divide 5 points and receive 1½ points each. One of the largest meets was the all-day West

Off, off, and away we go to Penn State for the big meet.

Shaler's rifle team had a winning season with only two losses. The two losses were to Fox Chapel and North Allegheny. Shaler was tied with North Allegheny for first place until the last match. The winning of Sections entitled the team to go to a Regional Match at Pitt. After a long hastle over who was the winner, Shaler received the trophy.

The season was finished with a two-day weekend at Penn State for the State Championship. Shaler came in third place after a cross-scoring match.

The team consisted of seven seniors this year: Bill Kapphan, Carol Geist, Dane Wagner, Mikki Gross, Jim Gaus, Kathy Cushman and Rick Bosiljevac. The juniors and sophomores who were varsity members were: Kathy McMillan, Debbie Henderson, Rege Gmuer, Mike Laslavic, and Bob Polecritti.

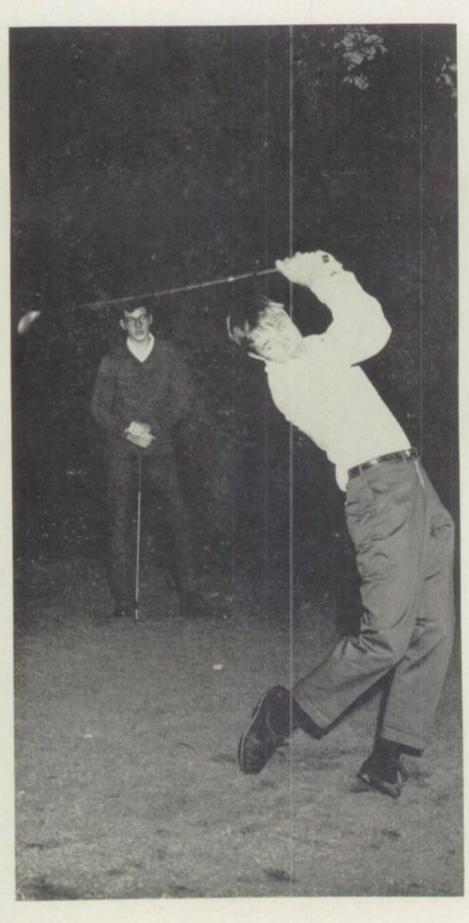

The golf team, sponsored by Mr. Halechko, was victorious in four of the ten matches. Most of the games are held at the Wildwood course, although there are other locations. Some of these are the Shannopin, Bakerstown, and Highland Country Club. With two lettermen from last year's team, Scott Irwin and Jim Gunst, Mr. Halechko feels that the upcoming season will be successful.

Next year, however, presents an even better outlook as the squad is now made up entirely of freshmen, sophomores, and juniors and all will be returning with at least a year of experience.

Mr. Halechko gives Dennis Edwards some pointers on his grip as the team looks on.

The cross country team, under the direction of David Longwell, scored 6 wins and 7 losses. The teams consisted of approximately thirty boys. The boys had practice every day after school and for the last two weeks of the summer. Besides organized workouts, many team members ran throughout the summer and before school in the morning. Our cross country team, running in all weather over all types of terrain, covered courses which varied in length from 2.5 to 3 miles. Most team members logged an average of 50 to 60 miles weekly.

Points in dual meets are awarded to the first ten places on the basis of one point for 1st place to 10 points for last place. The five lowest places for each team are added together, and the team with the lowest score wins the meet.

Sophomores Win Basketball Tournament In CAA

Cook, Duffet, Kretschmaier, Bashaw, Burton, and Ambrose make up a winning basketball team.

Mrs. Barr, sponsor of this year's Girls' Athletic Association, and President Gretchin Whitaker scheduled the many activities in which the club participated throughout the year. Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors took part in the sports offered this year, which were basketball, shuffleboard, and volleyball. Even though the club was limited to these indoor sports because of the construction of the new field, there was a great deal of competitive spirit among the girls. In basketball, a Sophomore team, the Roses, managed to beat the winning Junior and Senior teams, and became the victors of the tournament. Selling decorative calendars was one of GAA's money making schemes, and their major annual event was the banquet honoring Seniors to which their mothers were invited. All these activities provided much enjoyment for the participants.

After A Hard Season

The Hoopsters, Shaler's Girls Basketball Team, played its second season this year. Both varsity and junior varsity were coached by Mrs. Beverley Slais. Eliminations were held in November. The girls practiced each Tuesday and Thursday night for two hours and were judged on their drills, shooting, and overall basketball ability. Mary Lou Way and Christel Williams were chosen as co-captains.

After the team members were chosen, they began practices. Before the regular season started, two exhibition games were played. Paid women officials with national ratings refereed the league games.

On February 17, the Hoopsters played Avonworth at the Booster Game. The lead was tossed back and forth, but our Hoopsters lost by one point — the final score being 38-37. During the last few weeks in February, the Hoopsters played in a basketball tournament. The first game they were given a bye, an automatic win. Next, the Hoopsters met Avonworth

Shaler Marching Band Practices Drills At Kiwanis Athletic Field

At Heiles and Henry Long are the assistant drum majors and are photographed here flanking Rex Morgan, head drum major.

To any band member, the command, "Move down twenty-five yards!" could only mean one thing: marching practice on the Kiwanis Field. Because of the construction of the new football stadium, the band moved their summer camp to Kiwanis. The field was only seventy yards long, forcing the band to march back twenty-five yards after each entrance in order to complete the drills.

During the marching season, the band performed in two parades, the first a 5-mile march at Indiana University's Homecoming. This parade was one of the season's highlights. The next Saturday, the band marched at their own Homecoming and entered their float, "Jack and the Beanstalk," in the parade down Mt. Royal Boulevard to Kiwanis Field.

The band's last halftime performance at Bethel on Senior Day featured "Spanish Flea," "Goldfinger," "Tea for Two," and "I'll Be Seeing You," songs from the seniors' past marching years. Then, on May 11, the band led the annual Little League Parade as one of the final marching performances of the seniors.

Queen Lynn McCullough and Attendant Marilyn Long rode the Band's float, "Jack and the Beanstalk," in the Homecoming Parade.

During the year, the entire band played for pep assemblies, and special groups of band members played for various school functions. The Dance Band provided the live entertainment for the Homecoming Dance and also played for one of the pep assemblies. The Brass Ensemble assisted at the Christmas Choral Assemblies and performed at the evening Christmas Choral Concert on December 15th.

Three concerts were presented by the Shaler High Concert Band during the year. The first concert was the Annual Invitational Concert which featured the Duquesne Woodwind Symphony and the North Allegheny Concert Band. The next concert was the Spring Concert, which was followed by the Raymond G. Bell Scholarship Concert. The Bell Concert provides a scholarship for a senior who plans to enter the field of music or music education.

Two events concluded the year for the band: the Awards Banquet and the Memorial Day Parade. At the Awards Banquet held late in April, the Band, Majorettes, and Cheerleaders received awards for their participation during the past year. The final event of the season was the Memorial Day Parade which marked the seniors' last appearance as members of the Shaler High School Marching Band.

"Power! Power! Score! Score!", shouted the cheerleaders as they practiced in the quadrangle. Only three weeks after final eliminations the new cheerleading squads, sponsored by Miss Nohach, began practicing old songs and cheers and originating new ones. For the entire summer the squads practiced each Tuesday and Wednesday evening for two hours. Then two weeks before school started the girls attended band camp from 8:00 in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon. During this time they organized pep rallies, made large and small signs, and perfected cheers. Throughout the year the cheerleaders promoted school spirit among the students and athletic teams. In the middle of the year, the cheerleaders held a contest to see which class, Senior, Junior, or Sophomore, had the most enthusiasm. Each clas demonstrated its school spirit by the percentage of students who wore the slogan signs "Hold Those Tigers." The two classes who had the highest percentages attended the last football pep meeting of the year. Much to their chagrin the Seniors lost.

It is plain to see that throughout the year a cheerleader must exhibit true school spirit through her actions and attitude. Summer practices, band camp, football games, pep rallies, signs, basketball games, wrestling matches, spring competition and tryouts constitute a cheerleader's yearly routine. And, if she makes the squad two, three, and four consecutive years, it truly can be said that "a cheerleader's job is never finished" — at least at Shaler.

This year, the Student Council meetings were called to order by President Dale Russell. The other officers for 1967-1968 were Vice-President Richard Brown, Secretary Katherine Allen, Assistant Secretary Kathleen Toomey, and Treasurer Robert Malley. Mr. Richard Dixon again served as advisor to Student Council for the seventh consecutive year.

One of the first problems to be faced by Student Council was how to observe Homecoming in the fall. Since the field was under construction, the Homecoming Parade was held on Mt. Royal Boulevard instead, with the Homecoming Dance that night,

Various SC members judged the Cake-baking Contest, and awarded to Janet Rump, for the girls' cakes, and to William Peterson and Ronald Randazza, for the boys' cakes, a cash prize of $5.00. Student Council also sponsored Senior Day on November 3, and a Dress-up Day on February 16.

First "Sweetheart Ball"

For the first time a Sweetheart, senior Marcy Devine, was chosen at the Sweetheart Ball on February 16. The popular Talent Show was held on March 28, and this year a new idea was initiated by holding an evening performance also.

Besides these traditional activities, Student Council also performed other various services for the benefit of the student. These services included distributing mimeographed maps to the away-games, holding "Victory Dances" after all home football games and wrestling matches on Friday night, decorating the high school lobby, and scheduling the various assemblies throughout the year.

In addition, meetings were called every two weeks to provide a greater opportunity for the students to be heard. These meetings were attended by the Student Council Representatives that were elected in each homeroom. When Mr. Dixon took over as vice-principal, Mr. Matz filled the vacancy as the sponsor for Student Council and directed the spring campaign and elections.

Spanish Club spent long hours decorating for their pinata holiday.

Nancy Ferrainolo tells French Club members the highlights of her trip to France.

Shaler was proud to add a new organization to its extracurricular program. Under the leadership of Stephanie Eichleay and Mrs. Skendall, the German Club was formed. This year's club activities included a service project which was the collection of stamps. They sent them to Betel, a small town in Germany. This town prepares the stamps for sale to collectors. Although German Club was new this year, it soon became an active and important part of our program.

Shaler's language program also includes an honor society. This year's president John Baker has worked along with Miss Smolkovich, the club sponsor, to maintain the tradition of the Spanish Honor Society. This select club is open to Spanish students who have successfully completed two years of Spanish and have maintained a "B" average or better over that time period. The yearly initiation of new members was held in a Christmas meeting with Spanish Club.

In addition to the combined Christmas Party, Spanish Club held regular monthly meetings. At the January meeting Miss Smolkovich and Miss Robinson talked about their trip to South America. Another traveler, Donna English, was invited to tell of her experiences as a student in Mexico and Brazil.

French Club makes up the fourth and final part of Shaler's language program. This club's yearly activities included a February crepes suzettes party and International Christmas party. Many of the French students who traveled abroad shared the highlights of their trips. Banquets, bake sales, and movies combined to make this a successful year for French Club.

Development Of Natural Talent Helps

Wagner, Hohman, Luczak, Snatchko, Shearer, Elder, members of Art Club work on advertising posters.

Promotion of natural talent was one of the chief objectives for clubs this year. Art Club began its year by constructing a float depicting the antics of Little Black Sambo. With the advertisement required by many school activities, the Art Club kept busy designing new posters and decorations. Regular visits to art exhibits helped promote student creativity.

While art enthusiasts gazed at sculptures, the Folk

Singing Club gathered guitars and voices for the pleasure of singing. The beginning of the year was highlighted by Homecoming, in which the Folk Singing Club placed third with their presentation of Alice in Wonderland. A new idea was initiated for the formation of groups representing different styles of folk music and this activity gave all members a chance to learn additional repertoire.

Beth Bergman, Marcia Hoffman, Rick Vaughan, Bill Hanson, Nancy Richards, and Alberta Sarnowski were Folk Club members who presented club programs.

Students Enjoy Artistic Advancement

Lynn, Maloney, Eckman, Milson, Thompson; Standing: Bishop, are part of the cast for Drama Club's 'Twas the Night Before Christmas skit.

The Debate Team was organized for the first time this year. By directing oratorical abilities, the Debate Team combined skill with fun. A great part of the year was spent using talents in individual competition within our area.

Drama Club also spent time rehearsing for its skit, "Twas the Night Before Christmas," which was presented for the Christmas assembly. Eight dancing reindeer pranced across the stage while Santa distributed toys to sleeping tots. Other drama club activities included two trips to the Pittsburgh Playhouse to see Once Upon a Mattress and Henry IV, Part I. School hours were devoted to impromptu plays and skits. These clubs combined enjoyment and natural abilities and helped students enjoy the development of themselves.

Row 1: Rea, C. Miller, Edwards, Mr. Snyder; Row 2: J. Miller, Lendefeld, Wilkins, were Debate Club members who participated in forensic contests.

A STATE OF THE STA

Library Aides, Pat Lippert and Chris Daood, devote their study halls to assist the librarians.

Service Clubs Benefit

Members of the Library Aides, the Future Nurses' Club of America, the Future Teachers' Club of America, and the Home Economics Club devoted a great deal of their time to service in the home, school, and community.

The Library Aides gave up some of their study halls and free time both before and after school to act as assistants to the librarians. Sponsored by Miss Emrick, they are thoroughly familiar with all the facilities which Shaler's library has to offer. While working in the library, they were available to help students find the materials necessary to their research on various papers or school projects. Their other duties included keeping the desk clear and the book shelves in order for efficient library operation.

Members of the Future Nurses' Club of America also devote some of their free periods to the service of their school. Working in the nurse's office they aid in the patching up of students who were the victims of unfortunate accidents, and kept records concerning the various illnesses reported throughout the day. In addition to these duties, the Future Nurses' Club undertook projects each month. Their two major projects were at Christmas and Easter when they made and appropriately packaged candy to be distributed at Passavant Hospital.

Linda Smith, Janet Zoerb, Marcia Stout, Cora Tyson, and Gail Morgan put the finishing touches on the Christmas favors that the Future Nurses' Club donated to Passavant Hospital.

School and Community

Shaler's Future Teachers' Club of America began the school year by acting as guides assisting the parents at Open House. Then in October, as a first for the club, they entered their float in the Homecoming Parade. Throughout the year, members of F.T.A. visited area schools as observers. Mr. Schweiger, acting as sponsor, strove to emphasize the importance of teaching techniques both through these observations and through several workshops held by Future Teachers' Clubs in the North Hills area. To gain actual teaching experience, F.T.A. members continued their Manchester Tutorial Program. An innovation this year was the presentation of corsages or boutonnieres to teachers on "Teaching Career Day."

A Home Economics Club was organized as an addition to Shaler's extracurricular program this year. Members undertook as their major winter project the making of doll clothes for charity. Then, in the spring, they sold cook books in order to gain money for their banquet at the end of the year.

At regular meetings members held workshops during which they improved their skills in cooking, knitting, and sewing.

The services which all these students provided not only benefitted those around them, but also helped to prepare them for careers in later life.

The following Future Teacher members: Pat Lippert, Chris Daood, Annette Mihlfred, Michael Peth, Karen Reinhard, and Sandra Kompare, played an active part in the club's organization.

A group of Home Ec Club members, Darlene Morris, Sandra Kompare, Annette Mihlfred, Ruth Schiffbauer, Debra Craddock, and Kathleen Anderson, discuss the cook books that they are selling.

SCOOP Informs Students Of The School's Activities

Scoop, Shaler's monthly newspaper, keeps the students informed on the latest happenings. The student is kept up to date on the latest sports scores. Not only are the coming events cited but the paper also has regular columns such as "College Corner" and "Letters to the Editors." As an added feature this year, the Scoop staff conducted a poll of the seniors to find out what their plans are for after they have been graduated. The paper is in the hands of the student. He may voice his opinion at any time by placing his remarks in the Sound Off box. Pictures and student-drawn cartoons have added a touch of humanism to the paper. The Journalism class, under Mrs. Barbara Logero's direction, wrote and compiled this year's Scoop.

The staff works diligently to get their yearbook out on time.

The beginning of the school year found the Shaler-esque staff hoping for a better yearbook. The senior class did their part by raising funds for the production and financing of the book. The yearbook was then planned and written by a staff of seventeen senior girls under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Corda. The girls worked on the mounting of pictures and the composing of captions and write-ins. Each also had a chance to help the photographer and do other jobs necessary to produce a yearbook. Having completed the yearbook, we now proudly present to you for your approval the 1968 Shaleresque.

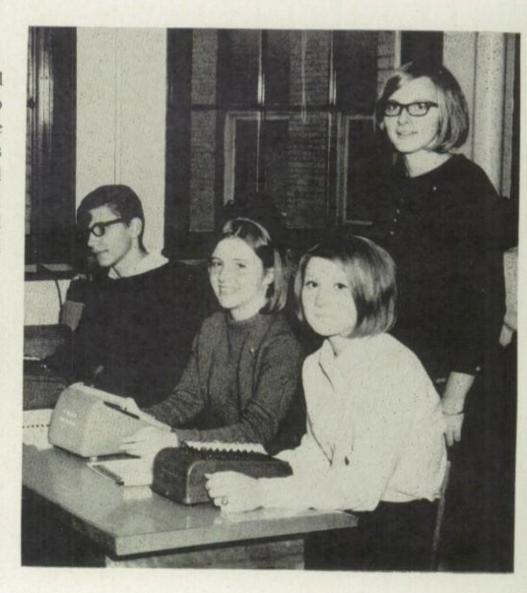

The staff also wishes to extend its thanks to all those involved, for their aid and cooperation in producing the 1968 Shaleresque.

John Coco, Sue McInnes, John Baker, and Nancy Ferrainolo perform many duties as National Honor Society members, in preparing for the annual initiation service on May 21.

Selected Honor Students Take Part In School Clubs

This year the National Honor Society remained inactive except for the initiation of new members. To become a member of the Honor Society, a candidate must have maintained a B average throughout his high school years. All of the students who qualified scholastically were placed on a list and then selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The induction service for the newly elected fifty juniors and fifteen seniors was held in the auditorium on the evening of May 21st. Parents and friends of the initiates were guests at the ceremony. The Reverend Mr. Lewis R. Bigler was the featured speaker for the ceremony; afterwards, refreshments were served in the lobby.

Junior Commercial Club members, Roberts, Winkler, Newman, Schmitt learn many interesting things about the business world.

The Commercial Club enjoyed a very active and profitable year. One of the first projects of the club was to build a Homecoming Float. This year their loat was "The Three Bears," with queen Ann Wenell and attendants Barb Goetz and Kathy Handrahan. During February the club held a bake sale to raise money for their treasury and club picnic. Their last big activity was a trip to Pittsburgh's IBM school to inspect the offices and machines.

A girl can join the Commercial Club any time of the year. To become a member, she must have a B average in all of her courses, including her noncommercial studies. Many new members were admitted to the club this year.

Returning Commercial Club members talked about their jobs and duties which they perform each day at the annual career night. Senior Commercial Club members held their annual dinner at the Horn of Plenty on May 7. Games were played and favors were presented to the members. The Junior Commercial Club sponsored a dinner in honor of the graduating members. The Commercial Clubs are sponsored by Mrs. Wagner, Miss Bauer, and Mrs. Heberle.

Senior Commercial Club officers are seated: Barb Goetz and Barb Duss; standing: Joyce Spalick and Judy Sutter.

Commercial girls demonstrate their business proficiency.

Several clubs at Shaler were organized primarily for the sports-minded — Leader's Club, Varsity Club, Ski Club, Bowling Club, and Pep Club. Both Varsity Club and Leader's Club are rather honorary for those who participate in sports, but Ski Club and Bowling Club are open to any boy or girl interested in those particular sports. Pep Club, while not directly involved with sports, does much to arouse the student's enthusiasm with the sport's program.

Each of the clubs were rather busy during the year. Friday afternoons the members of Bowling Club bowled at Mt. Royal Lanes. Some members belonged to the Youth Bowling Association which gave awards on the basis of scores. The team that won during the first half of the season rolled off the winner of the second half for the championship. Pep Club raised the money needed for a new Huskie outfit. They also had a new idea for promoting school spirit in the various sports. A different character was used on banners for each sport; for example, Snoopy was used for the Girl's Basketball, Linus and Schroeder for the Boy's Basketball, and the Schmoos for Rifle. The project of Varsity Club was to raise money for the Most Valuable Player Trophy for the boy who was considered to contribute the most to each sport. They did this by selling school pennants during the year. During Wrestling Sectionals held at Shaler in February, the girls in Leader's Club took turns selling food and drinks in the lobby. In March, the club sponsored a Tennis Clinic. Mr. Lichtman brought members of the Carnegie-Mellon Tennis Team to play a few sample tennis matches and to give lessons in some fundamentals of the sport. Ski Club was finally successful in sponsoring a ski trip. In the words of President Kathy Edwards, "This was the year of the Ski Club's emergence as an important Shaler entity." On February 17, two busloads of students (most of whom had never skied before) traveled to Bear Rocks. By the end of the day, nearly everyone had become a confirmed skier and could not wait to go again.

The attitude of all Shaler's sports clubs, in a phrase from the Varsity Club Constitution, is "to maintain the high standards of Shaler athletes and athletics."

Leader's Club officers Sue Brayford, Gretchen Whitaker, Annette Mihlfried, Joanne Zappa, and Ruth Wilkins display the calendars which the GAA sold during the year.

"It's finally snowing!" cries Kathy as the Ski Club looks forward to a long-awaited ski trip at Bear Rocks.

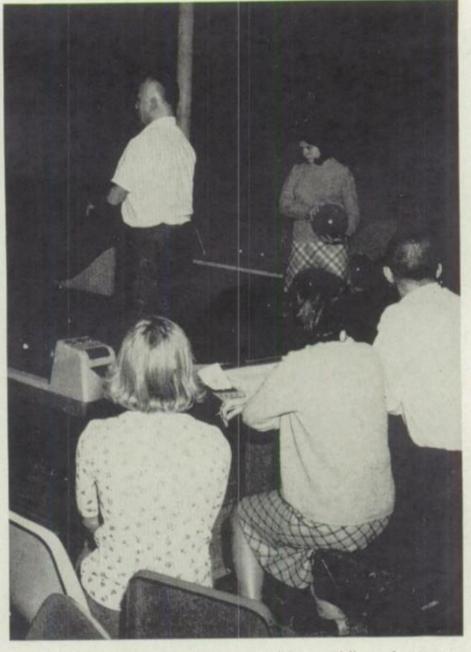

Sandy Lamb, Paula Hricik, Judy Heiles, Nancy Leise, and Diane Dickinson, officers of Pep Club, post signs to help promote school spirit.

Shaler's Sports-minded Students Join Worthwhile Clubs

Varsity Club members Scott Runkle, Tom Tano, Rand Smucker (standing), Rick LaFerriere, Bob O'Connell, and Lloyd Mason proudly display their well-earned letters.

Mr. Bold demonstrates the correct "approach" to the members of the Bowling Club at the weekly session at the Mt. Royal Lanes.

The girls work hard under a hot sun practicing a new routine.

After First Year, Drill Team Earns Permanent Status

"Are you sure you told them to be here?"

Shaler added a new facet to its band membership this year. The Shaler drill team helped boost school spirit throughout the football season. With the practice required by Mrs. Slais, the drill team successfully performed intricate maneuvers with the band during halftime shows. The high point of their season was their performance in Indiana State University's homecoming parade. With its nucleus of veterans, Shaler's drill team can anticipate a big second season.

With Skilled Professional Help the 1968 Staff Worked to Produce This Year's

Shaleresque

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Corda, seventeen senior girls worked daily to compile and publish the 1968 Shaleresque. These girls, with the assistance of skilled craftsmen, had the opportunity of putting together the major publication of the school year. For this aid the staff wishes to acknowledge the help of
